Summary

ComReg will convene an industry workshop on changing service provider and number portability processes for both fixed and mobile operators on the 15th of May 2014 from 14.30 to 16.30 at ComReg's offices.

Background

ComReg is planning to consult on a range of issues related to changing service provider. It is envisaged that this consultation will take place in the near future and will be relevant to a range of stakeholders including both fixed and mobile operators.

This consultation is one component of a switching work-stream currently underway in ComReg. Another key element of which is a project to develop an audit capability which will allow ComReg to monitor operators' compliance with their regulatory obligations as they apply to changing service provider in general including number portability.

The workshop will focus on ComReg's view of the data relating to switching processes which could be required from mobile and fixed operators for audit purposes when ComReg's planned audit capability is operational.

At the workshop we will also provide a broad outline of the proposed consultation topics
