

Commission for Communications Regulation

Announcement- 15th September 2003

Removal of the compulsory requirement for an examination in Morse Code Signals for the Irish Experimenters Licence.

The Commission for Communications Regulation (ComReg) is pleased to announce that in line with the outcome of WRC 2003 (World Radio Conference), we have removed the compulsory requirement for an examination in Morse Code Signals. As of today's date (September 15th 2003), there is no longer a need to pass a Morse code test to operate on the High Frequency Bands as listed in Part IV Particulars of Experimenters Station 02/77R3. All Class B Licences now have Full Licence Privileges.

For further information please contact

Mr Derek C.O'Reilly
Volume Licensing & Co ordination Division
Market Framework
Commission for Communications Regulation
e-mail: derek.oreilly@comreg.ie
Phone: (+ 353 1) 804 9769